I will provide a nurturing, safe space where the client is validated and accepted where they are" (struggling with rage, anger, sadness, anxiety or depression). Clients want results and I provide those results by providing the opportunity to learn about self, coping skills, and how to be more self-compassionate instead of getting stuck in self-shaming or self-criticism. With adults, I utilize many evidence-based treatments such as: DBT, EF CBT, Somatic therapy, EFT, and EMDR. Sandtray therapy is a treatment I use with all ages. Sandtray therapy allows the client, to access painful memories in the right side of the brain (where it is stored), and tell the story by using images, which is the miniatures the client selects. I understand how anxiety provoking it can be to find a therapist. I have 20- years of experience, and I will provide you an opportunity for you to be supported, validated, and be listened to.
